

Josh Glazeroff

State Department Representative

Josh Glazeroff is a consular-coned officer with 18 years of experience in the Foreign Service. Having served overseas in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic and Durban, South Africa early in his career, Josh most recently spent five years in New Delhi, India, including time as the Consul General. His domestic assignments include time as the Burma Desk Officer, service as a CDO in the Bureau of Human Resources, and a year as a Senior Watch Officer in the Operations Center. He has also served three times in the Bureau of Consular Affairs, twice working directly for the Assistant Secretary, and currently managing the Office of Fraud Prevention Programs.

Josh was born in Detroit, Michigan but grew up in Newburgh, New York. He has a Bachelor's degree in Biology from Harvard College and a Master of Arts in Teaching Biology from Brown University. He speaks Spanish.